I'm from Ramsey, New Jersey

I grew up in Ramsey, a typical northern New Jersey suburb. As the youngest of three children, I spent my time running around the neighborhood with my friends, playing hopscotch on our cul de sac and riding bikes. My favorite part of childhood, though, was our pool. Swimming season was short but I spent as much time as I could playing Marco Polo, jumping off the diving board and perfecting my strokes. It's the one thing I miss even today.

I'm from Holland, Michigan

I spent most of my childhood in Holland, Michigan growing up alongside four siblings. I have many memories of sledding on snowy days in the winter and walking on heated sidewalks downtown. But the summer was my favorite season because Lake Michigan was practically in our back yard. It was like an ocean to me and it's where I learned to waterski and fish and climb the dunes with my friends.

I'm from Astoria, New York

I'm a city girl, having grown up in Astoria, Queens. My older brother and I lived on the first floor of our house with our parents. Our grandparents lived on the second floor and that's where I'd spend many afternoons watching game shows with my grandma. Since our parents worked, she's the one who taught me how to cook. I think of her often when I'm making dinner for my family.
